

Residual current relays. Network monitoring and protection.

ABB residual current relays allow monitoring and protection of the low voltage distribution network through the use of an external toroidal transformer. They are available in modular and front panel shape.

www.abb.com

